Advice to Every Business Man

Advertise well! you will never regret it:
Nothing more wise can a business man do.
Stick to this motto and never forget it:
Advertise well—it will see you safe through.
Advertise well, do not think what it will cost:
Printers' bills are but friends in disguise.
How do you know what your caution has cost?
If you would be wealthy you must advertise. —selected

Mr. Houston, who represents the Litchfield Lamp Co., of Litchfield, Ill. was in the city last week in the interest of his company. He installed a plant in the new brick building on Broadway which will be occupied by Williams Bros. saloon.

The mechanism of the plant is very simple, being scarcely more complicated than the ordinary gasoline stove. The lights, four in number, furnish white light of extraordinary brilliancy and steadiness, at the nominal cost of about $1 per week.

The entire plant was installed at a cost of about $65 and is regarded by Messrs. Ross and John Williams as a most satisfactory investment.

Americans have something to learn. The Bon Marche at Paris is the biggest retail store in the world. It employs 4,000 women among whom are 200 interpreters. Some of these speak fifteen languages. An iron rule of the house is that when any employe reaches the age of fifty-six, retirement is compulsory, and she spends the rest of her life in a home maintained by the proprietor.

There are twenty three sets of missionaries stationed at Tokio. No wonder the Japanese government has been a little puzzled to know which is the genuine religion. The result is all religions are tolerated and the Japanese take no stock in any.

Somebody who wants to explain what the editorial "we" signifies, says its meaning varies to suit the circumstance. For instance, when you read that "we expect our wife home today," we refer to the editor-in-chief; when its "we are a little late with our work," it includes the whole office force, even the devil and towel. If we are having a boom," the town is meant; "we received over 700,000 emigrants last year," and it embraces the nation, but "we have hog cholera in our midst" only refers to the illness of the man who takes the paper two or three years without paying for it.—Exchange.

Dallas and Galveston papers say that the farmer who holds his cotton till January will get 12 cents.

It is reported that Kelleher & Hood have only second hand goods, which is untrue. We handle the best goods made, and will bring them to your homes on your approval, and on easy payments. KELLEHER & HOOD, 429 Main
